eagerly adopted it, but cautioned everyone to say nothing about it, so that he could throw it as a boomerang at Congress. Secretary Fairchild, however, was too pleased with the scheme to keep perfectly quiet, and before the message had been delivered to Congress he told a newspaper man about it, and it was soon mown all around. It is also known that the message was printed at the printing office before the treaty had been rejected in the Sen-

THE PUBLIC DEBT.

A Reduction of $7,000,000 During August -The Receipts and Expenditures. WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 .- The reduction in the public debt during August past amounted to $7,324,676. The total debt now, less net cash in the treasury, is $1,154,122,682, and of this amount $1,008,137,572 is interest-bearing The net cash in the treasury to-day is $107,673,320, against $44,760,908 on Sept. 1, 1887. The gold fund balance in the treasury to day is $206,383,036, against $194,592.-280 on Aug. 1, and the silver-fund balance to-day is $42,773,346 or about $3,000,000 less then a month ago. The store of standard silver dellars in the treasury has increased about $2,000,000 during the past month, and now aggregates $247,859,402. Deposits in national banks have decreased about one half a million during the month, and to-day aggregate $59,-

Government receipts during August aggregated $34.623.180, or one million less than in year were $21,968,506, or about three-quarters of million less than in August, 1887, and the internal revenue receipts were $10,631,908, or about one-quarter of a million less than in August a year ago.

MINOR MATTERS.

George Law's Game of Poker with Vanderbilt, and the Result Thereof. Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

WASHINGTON, Sept 1 .- A day or two ago the New York papers told a story of the munificence of George Law, of New York, a wellknown man-about-town, with a very comforta-ble income, who is said to have expended nearly $25,000 in making presents to a number of his personal friends at Saratoga. This paragraph calls to mind a story which was told of George Law a year or two sgo, of a similar character. A gentleman who was on intimate terms with him years ago says that on one occasion he rode up the Hudson on an Albany boat with George Law, Commodore Vanderbilt, and a third party, whose name I have now forgotten, and a time of poker was suggested, and my informant, knowing that the stakes were going to be quite large, did not go in, but George Law and Vanderbilt did, with the other one. Just as they started, George Law whispered to my

He promised that he would keep his feelings to himself and watch the game. They sat up nearly all night, and before they arose from their chairs Law had dropped $45,000 to Commodore Vanderbilt. They parted at Albany in the morning, but about a week afterwards Law was encountered on Wall street, when he said: "I reckon you think I played a mighty reckless game with the Commodore the other night, but I have just this morning sold him my line of steamers, and I have cleared $195,000 by the Washington Special. The arrival at one of the fashionable hotels of the city of a certain lady has caused a decided flutter among the other ladies domiciled there: neither are the men unmoved. The lady who has caused the flutter is Mrs. Amelie Rives-Chapler, the author of the precipitous and erotic novel, "The Quick or the Dead." She is accompanied by her husband, but he, like the husbands of all women of celebrity, is completely in the background. The two arrived last night. When they went down to breakfast this morning they found the dining-room crowded. The eyes of all there were upon the authoress. She is certainly a most handsome woman. She wore a morning gown of white muslin. A cloud of lace was about her shapely throat, and a big bunch of red roses was at her breast. She was very self-composed, showing not the least sign body was looking at her. She herself is decided-

THE RECEPTION TO HOVEY

An Enthusiastic Greeting to the Republican Candidate for Governor.

Streets of Mount Vernon Crowded by the Largest Collection of People Ever Known in the History of the Little City.

special to the Indianapolis Journal. Mount Vernon, Sept. 1 .- General Hovey arrived at Princeton this morning at 9 o'clock, and was met there by a tremendous crowd of enthusiastic people. Short speeches were made by several of the party accompanying the General, after which the special train that came up to meet him started toward Mount Vernou. At Fort Branch, Poseyville, Owensville and Cynthiana, and other places along the route, the depot platforms were jammed with enthusiastic admirers of the General. There was one continued ovation, and the people seemed bent on convincing their hero of their admiration. The climax was reached at Mt. Vernon. Here thousands of people met him at the train, and August, 1887. Customs receipts in August this | still thousands more lined the streets and filled the houses on the route laid out in the programme for the line of march. In the line were dozen or more brass bands, and glee clubs too numerous to mention, from every quarter, both from Illinois and Indians, delegations, and clubs, and organizations, white and colored. All this demonstration was gotten up within four days. It seemed as if the word "Hovey" was an electric symbol of greatness, as it yielded a spontaneity and enthusiasm seldom if ever equaled in this part of Mount Vernon is gaily decorated. Many of the best decorated homes were those of Democrats, who are warm and energetic in their support of General Hovey. General Hovey's train arrived at noon, and a long procession escorted him to his beautiful home on court-house

The General was accompanied by ex-Governor Porter, Col. Thomas H. Nelson, Colonel Bridgland, Senator Foulke and others. The guests proceeded to dinner, and at 2 o'clock in the afternoon the procession moved past and was viewed by General Hovey from a stand in front

The procession was a mile or more in length; twelve or fifteen glee clubs were in line, of thirty to fifty members each, all beautifully dressed in red, white and blue. The notable feature was an immense log cabin, drawn by twenty oxen. The arrangements were all admirably conducted. Carriages took the speakers direct to the grove, and here the people flocked together into a perfect jam. The women were just as enthusiastic and as full of fire and animation as the men. The speakers stand was densely surrounded. The address of welcome was delivered by Prosecuting Attorney Walter Jackson, an eloquent gentleman, who addressed General Hovey and assured him that people of all political affiliations were present, delighted to welcome him and congratulate him upon the honor that had been conferred upon him in the gubernatorial nomination. The people remembered that he was born of humble parentage, and that as an orphan, he had, by an indomitable will, won a deserved success; by energy he had become leading member of the county bar, the presiding judge of eleven counties, then judge of the Supreme Bench, then elected delegate to the constitutional convention, which drafted a constitution that has ever remained intact; then he went to war, rose to be a general whom General Grant said he was proud to honor, and won a name at Champion Hill that will go down to posterity; was made a minister to a foreign court in 1865; elected in 1886 to Congress, and now to be the next Governor. Said the speaker: "Neighbors. friends, soldiers here welcome you and will never forget your distinguished services, and none will be more delighted to honor you than those who greet you now."

General Hovey was very much overcome by the tremendous ovation which he received, and could hardly speak. He said his heart was too full for utterance, and he could not express his heartfelt appreciation of the kindness of his neighbors, who had so often honored him. In twenty-two years in public life he had been devoted to his people, and could say with pride, and defy any one to find a blot on his official record. He said he would not attempt to make a speech, but declared that there must be full vote and a fair count for Indiana, and a full and fair count in the South as well; that we must and will have such a condition. Men who abor for a living must be protected, and must be as dear to us as our kindred. For the soldier, he said he wanted no more for the men who fought with him than their forefathers got. "I want every soldier pensioned for life." said he: "I want no soldier to swear is a pauper and a burden on the people before he is granted a pension. A man must now swear, and swear, and swear. and then his pension is vetoed." General Hovey closed his remarks by thanking his friends for the grand reception. Even defeat itself could not make him forget this day. He was frequently and heartily applauded, and when he sat down the roar of cheers that went up was prodigious. A sone that captured the multitude was here sung by the Carmi, Ill., quartet, entitled. "We'll all vote for Hovey."

The chorus which particularly caught the crowd We're going to vote for the soldiers' friend. We'll vote for the Hoosier hero; Three hundred thousand in the State. Are going to vote for Hovev: The Hoosier State will do her part. And Hovey'll be elected.

Governor Porter was introduced and heartily received. He made one of his characteristic speeches, an hour and a half in length. He said sonthern Indiana had elected five Governors, and D. L. Gard. you couldn't beat a candidate from southern Indiana, and especially from the Pocket.

The entire city of Mt. Vernon is happy to night. Nearly 2,000 people came in on a night train from Evansville to help celebrate. The crowd was estimated at from 14,000 to 18,000. Addresses by Colonel Nelson, Colonel Bridgland and Senator Foulke were listened to. A torch-light procession of great length added to the success of the occasion, and the banners were remarkably unique, as "Protect your Family. Farm and Fireside," "Where Protection Leaves Off Free Trade Begins; "No Tinkering with Tariff Until the Government Meets Its Obligations;" "Welcome Our Conquering Hero Home;" "The Eagle and the Flag Downs the Rooster and the Rag;" "Indiana Ten Thousand for Harrison and Hovey," "Harrison, Home, Hovey, Protection, Property, Progress," and many others equally as pointed. The turnout to-night is, without doubt, the largest affair of the kind ever held in this part of the State. Posey

Special to the Indianapolis Journa. DELPHI, Sept. 1 .- It is evident to every one in northern Indiana that the leaders of the Democratic party are moving heaven and earth to force Mr. Cleveland and his reign upon the country for another four years. The most potent factor they are using in the campaign is money. They have lots of it and they are scattering it broadcast. At all their rallies they hire all the musicians in sight, paying them as high as $3 each for an hour's service. Recklessly the department.

they hire livery rigs; they purchase white plug hate for every man and boy who will wear them, while they are feeding and "drinking" scores of floaters, and have been for weeks past. In addition they give free transportation on the rail-roads to all who will attend Democratic rallies. At the rally to be held in this city, next Saturday, a free excursion will be run from Lafayette. Any one desiring to attend will have his expenses paid. When asked where the party got all its money, a prominent Democrat replied to-day, with a sly wink of the eye: "What's the matter with the surplus!"

One thing is certain, and that is that the money does not come from the local Democracy. They have not got it to give. The vast sums that they are scattering in the saloons, on the railroads, for plug-bats, for brass bands, etc., would bankrupt the party in Indiana if it was required to furnish it. The corruption fund must be an enormous one, judging by the reckless manner in which they are now scattering it. In the meantime the Republicans are not asleep. They will attempt to meet these Democratic methods with argument and fact. In this community we are relying solely on organization, argument and the good judgment of Democratic Falsehoods.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal CONNERSVILLE, Sept. 1 .-- Of all the lies and misrepresentations published by the Indianapolis Sentinel since the nomination of General Harrison none have excelled the communication published in that paper Friday, and signed "Traveler," who claims to have traveled extensively over southeastern Indiana, in which he makes the remarkable statement that he had heard of but one man who had heretofore been a Democrat that would vote for Harrison and Morton, and that he lived in Connersville. He also says that there are sixty-three Republicane in Fayette county that will vote for Cleve-land and Thurman. There is not a Democrat in Fayette county but knows that the latter statement made by the correspondent is false. There are many Democrats in the county who have publicly declared their intention to vote the entire Republican ticket this fall, and this is especially true among the old soldiers, many of whom, having been life-long Democrats, have joined the Harrison and Morton veterans of this city, but a thorough investigation discloses the fact that there is but one man in the county that ever voted the Republican ticket who will now declare his intention to vote for Cleveland, and he lives in this city and is a free-trade Englishman.

Pole-Raising in Decatur.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. GREENSBURG, Sept. 1 .- To-night the stars and stripes float proudly from two large, beautiful poplar poles, raised by enthusiastic Republicans in this county, to-day. At Center Grove, in Clinton township, the pole is 118 feet high, and the flag 7x16 feet. This is on the arm of Joseph Harrison, who is a relative of Hon. Benjamin Harrison. A large and intelligent audience was addressed by Mr. B. F. Bennett and Hon. John D. Miller, of this city. On the platform was a man eighty-six years old, who voted for W. H. Harrison in 1836 and 1840, and who was seated on a chair that did service in those memorable campaigns. At St. Omer. Hon. Will Cumback and M. D. Tackett spoke to an excellent assembly of sturdy Republicans in that Democratic stronghold. They raised a fine pole, 125 feet high-25 feet higher than the Democratic pole raised there recently. Log Cabin at Winchester. Special to the Indianapolis Journal. WINCHESTER, Sept. 1 .- For several days preparations have been going forward looking to the erection of a large log cabin, and to-day the structure is being erected. Several old Harrison men, of the 1836 and 1840 brand, are engaged in superintending the work to the edification of the younger Republicans, who lend a more than ready hand, and boost the logs into position. With the music from martial bands and the shouts of encouragement, as log after log is put in position, there is a general lively good time, which augurs well for the cause of Republicanism this fall in Randolph county. Last evening the Hon. Stanton J. Peelle addressed a fine audience for an hour and a half, at this place. His speech was one of the ablest discussions of the ariff question so far delivered here this year.

Brownlee and Sayre in Grant County. special to the Indianapolis Journal. Marion, Sept. 1-The Republicans of Mi township held an immense rally at Jonesboro, this afternoon. At 1 o'clock probably the big gest pole ever raised in Indiana was erected, it measuring two feet in diameter at the base, and is a trifle over 200 feet in height. At the top floats an immense Harrison and Morton streamer, with the stars and stripes. The attendance was over 5,000. The crowd was addressed by Hon. Hiram Brownlee, of this city, and Hon. Warren G. Sayre, of Wabash, both of whom handled the questions at issue in a masterful manner. The meeting was one of the most enthusiastic ever held in this county, and there is reason to believe that substantial good will be ac-Noble County Veterans.

The crowd was ably and eloquently addressed by Mr. E. G. Hogate, of Danville, and we equally as well entertained by an original recitation by Mr. Samuel Jmes, a local poet. The delegation from here, headed by the band was one of the finest ever arranged at this place. Sixty uniformed men, in a large, beautifully decorated wagon, drawn on a traction engine. was the new departure, and added greatly to the success of the occasion.

Cass County Nominations. special to the Indianapolis Journal LOGANSPORT, Sept. 1 .- The Republicans of Cass county met to-day in convention and nominated candidates for the various county offices. Hon. W. D. Owen presided. The convention was one of the largest and most enthusiastic ever held in this county. The following nominations were made: Representatives, Chas. H. Starr, Judge D. B. McConnell; prosecutor, Geo. W. Funk; treasurer, G. W. Davis; sheriff, W. H. H. Carter; coroner, J. A. Downey; surveyor,

J. C. Brophey; commissioners, J. W. Lee and H. L. Wilson at Fowler. Special to the Indianapolis Journal FOWLER, Sept. 1 .- Henry L. New York, Sept. 1 .- The Catholic News of this city has information from its Roman correspondent that Emperor William of Germany, who will visit Rome in October, would not consent to use the rooms first set appart for him by the Italian officials. The rooms proffered him in the Quirinal were those formerly inhabited by the Pope. The appartments now being prepared for him are those occupied by the late

Victor Emmanuel. The Catholic News is also advised of the postconsense of the consistory that was to have been held this month, until November. Several new cardinals among them the Pope's major domo. Mgr. Macchi, will then be created. The new bishops of the United States will be preconised and, it is expected that the vacant Canadian sees will be filled. The Catholic News to-morrow will publish an interview with Mr. Maurice Egan, late editor of the Freeman's Journal, in which he states that the paper has been transferred, with its good will, to Mesars. Austin E. Ford and Robert E. Ford. Mr. Egan, who takes a professorship at Notre Dame College, will continue as an editorial contributor. The Freeman, under the new management, will be strictly Catholic in tone, and in politics will be non-partisan.

THE LATE KAISER.

BERLIN, Sept. 1.—The testamentary notes of the late Kaiser William, abstracts of which have just been made public by the present Emperor, although of merely historic value, have been scanned with the deepest interest, as revealing the light in which he desired to be viewed by posterity. Each was written at a critical point in his career, and all are permeated with the deep piety which characterized his public dispatches. In the first, written shortly before he was made regent, after quoting a passage from the Scriptures, he says: "When this writing falls into the hands of my friends, I shall have departed this life. May it be vouchsafed to me in my last moments to commend my spirit into the hands of God. Should sudden death overtake me, my whole life has been a preparation for the world to come." A vein of sadness runs through the document, as the writer glances back at the alternate joys and sorrows of his life. He expresses great love for the fatherland. The second note, written after the war with Austria, commences: "Since, in 1857 I wrote to my surviving friends my last farewell, fate has deeply affected my life." It contains touching allusions to the death of his brother, and expresses heartfelt thanks to the people of Prussia for the sentiments displayed toward him. In it he prays that God will allow his successors to preserve to Prusia the position plainly assigned her by Providence. The note concludes: "May God, in His grace, will it so." The third note commences in 1870-71 with the words: "God was with us. To him be praise, honor and glory." A memorable passage runs: "If ever the finger of God was clearly manifested in history it was in the years 1866, 1870 and 1871." This and the fourth document conjure up brief visions of the events which marked each year. The loving references to the kindness and magnanity of his people both end with the prayer: "Lord, Thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven. Amen." The last, referring to Nobiling's attempt to assassinate him, says: 'My bodily sufferings are small in comparison with the grief that a son of Prussia should have perpetrated the deed, which will be doubly hard to bear until the close of my life, and which will cast a gloom over my heart and spirits for the remainder of my days." With meek submission to God he perceives in it a design to prove him before appearing at the great judgment seat. He offers the warmest thanks to his consort, the family and the people for the sympathy which they had given him.

EVICTIONS IN IRELAND.

Furious Fights Between Officers and Tenants on the Clauricarde Estate. DUBLIN, Sept 1 .- The evictions on Lord Clanricarde's estate were resumed to-day. The evictors first attacked the house of a man named Tully, at Cioncoe. The house faced the river Shannon. A deep trench had been dug about the building, the roof of which was banked with clay, stones and slates. Trees had been sunken in the ground parallel with the walls, which were made much stronger thereby. The first attack of the battering ram was beaten off by means of stones and boiling liquids, which the garrison used with good effect. The attacking party was compelled frequently to retreat. Then the constables were ordered upon the roof of the house, but many of them were hurled down into the ditch by the defenders, who captured a number of the boarding party's rifles and an officer's sword. The police made repeated attempts, and finally, after a hard fight of an hour and a half, succeeded in capturing the house and evicting the inmates. The next house attacked was one occupied by a man named Tuchy. The fight here was snorter, though equally furious. Eighteen young men of the garrison were arrested. The majority of them had received severe sword cuts on the face and arms and on various parts of their bodies. Three other families were evicted at Domas.

GENERAL FOREIGN NEWS.

Three Strangely Horrible Murders in Whitechapel District of London. NEW YORK, Sept. 1 .-- A London special to the Times says: "A strangely horrible murder took place at Whitechapel yesterday morning. The victim was a woman, who, at 3 o'clock was knocked down by some man unknown and attacked with a knife. She attempted to escape, and ran a hundred yards, her cries for help being heard by several persons in adjacent houses. No attention was paid to her cries, however, and when found, at daybreak, she was lying dead in another street, several hundred yards from the scene of the attack. Her head was nearly severed from her body, which was literally cut to pieces, one gash reaching from the pelvis to the breast bone. The strangest part of the affair is that this is the third murder of the kind which has been done lately. In the last, about two weeks ago, the victim was stabbed thirty-nine times. In the case before it, some months ago, the victim was stabbed with a stick, which was forced through the body. All three victims have been of the lowest class, all three murders have taken place in the same district, at about the same hour, and have been characterized by the same inhuman and ghoul-like brutality. The police have concluded that the same man did all three murders, and that the most dangerous kind of a lunstic is at large. The excitement is intense over the matter, and the women in Whitechapel are afraid to stir out of doors unprotected after dark." Gossip About the Prince of Wales. [Copyright, 1888, by the New York Associated Press.] BERLIN, Sept. 1 .- Several Berlin papers and Berlin correspondents of Austrian journals are making ill-natured remarks about the Prince of Wales. The Vienna Deutsche Zeitung, which is generally well informed by the German embassador and Berlin inspirations, published a story of alleged misunderstandings between Emperor William and the Prince of Wales. The latter is reported to have declared that it was the late Emperor Frederick's intention to restore the Dake of Cumberland to the kingdom of which his father was deprived, and to retrocede Schleswig-Holstein to Denmark. The journal further pretends that Emperor William had the Prince of Wales in view when, in his Frankfort speech, he said that Emperor Frederick's policy had been traduced, and proceeds gravely to assert that the meeting between the Princess of Wales and her sisters was brought about by this affair. Little credence is attached to the story.

Benningsen's Appointment.

Copyright, 1888, by the New York Associated Press.] BERLIN, Sept. 1 .- The appointment of Herr von Benningsen to the governorship of Hanover has deeply annoyed the ultra-Conservative party and pleased the Liberals, who are hopeful that it is the first step toward a place in the Cabinet. The nomination is said to have been due to the direct initiative of the Emperor, who desired to prove that he is not averse to moderate Liberalism joined with the pursuit of national aims. Whether this is the case or not, the fact must be received that the Emperor's deliberate sanction satisfies the Liberals.

The struggle was a hopeless one. Holtz only polled 3,847 votes; Knoerke, 7,507, and Foster 4,332

Natalle and King Milan. London, Sept. 1 .- Queen Natalie, of Servia, is at Bucharest urging the court at Belgrade to grant her a hearing in the divorce suit now pending between King Milan and herself. The King now declares that he can obtain fresh proof of Natalie's guilt, and asks the court to postpone the trial for three months. His policy is to crush the Queen, who is traveling about Europe and being snubbed by all the royalties. Nevertheless, Natalie is determined to fight to the last for her rights against all the odds the King can muster.

T-Trace of precipitation. Church Property Quarrel Settled. PITTSBURG, Sept. 1-It is probable that the troubles which have existed among the Ursuline Sisters for months past will be amicably arranged without any further interference on the part of the courts. It was understood to-day that, by direction of the Pope, the matter would be withdrawn from court. One of the attorners stated that the basis of settlement was the payment of $50,000 to Sister Alphonse and the other diseatisfied sisters, and that the expenses of their return to France be defrayed. The amount stated is the sum named in the dispatch, purporting to come from Rome, which submitted to the court by J. Ferguson, of counsel for the deposed mother superioress, Madam Alphonse, and the autenticity of which was questioned. Counsel on both sides admitted to-day that the matter would be settled and the deposed sisters would return at once to France. Steamship News.

THE OLD ROMAN.

His Teeth Trouble Him, but He Talks in H Usual Style to the Indiana Crowd.

about 400 strong, consisting of members of the Hendricks, Cleveland and Thurman, and Sawmakers' clubs, of Indianapolis, called on Judge Thurman this afternoon. There were also in the party a number of railroad men from that city. They arrived at half past 3 o'clock by a special train of eight cars. The delegation was received at the Union Depot by the members of the Jackson Club, a local Democratic organization. They marched to the ity of Judge Thurman's office. Mr. Thurman has been suffering severely for several days from neuralgia in the face, and for this reason the delegation was not received at his residence, in the east part of the city, owing to the danger attending an effort on his part to speak in the open air. A hall capable of accommodating seven or eight hundred people was secured, on High street, for the reception. Judge Thurman, accompanied by H. J. Booth, in a carriage, came to the hall, and as they entered a warm and enenthusiastic reception was given. Mayor Bruck delivered an address of welcome on behalf of the city, and H. J. Booth spoke on behalf of the local clubs. A. W. Conduitt, president of the Hendricks Club, read an address highly complimentary to Judge Thurman, and assured him that Indiana, heretofore counted among the doubtful States, would cast fifteen electoral votes for the Democratic ticket. Judge Thurman's face was tied up with a heavy handkerchief, and as he removed it and rose to speak the applause was enthusiastic. Judge Thurman said: "Mr. Chairman-To say that I am profoundly grateful to my friends from Indiana for the visit they have made me to-day, and for these marks of esteem and offection that you have displayed, is but poorly to express what I feel in my heart. I am profoundly grateful to you, and I have some reason to be grateful to Indiana. Some of the best friends I ever had in my life were citizens of your State. To go over the list of them would be to occupy time that could not be spared for that purpose, yet I cannot even begin the few remarks I shall make without alluding to that man whose name one of your clubs bears, Thomas A. Hendricks. [Applause.] For many years, when he was an important figure in American politics and took a marked part. I knew him inmately, and when, four years ago, I had the honor and privilege of speaking with him again never heard him make a speech that did not increase my admiration for the power of his intellect and the patriotism and courage of the man. [Applause.] My friends, I have one thing, however to regret to-day among the pleasures that I feel at your presence. For four or five days I have been suffering dreadfully from an attack of neuralgia in the face, and have had sometimes three and sometimes four radical high protection teeth aching as if they intended to take off my head, [Laughter. | But I hope I shall convert them to sound doctrine before long, at least. Though my face is still swollen it is going down by degrees, and, like our opponents, it will shrink and shrink until bealth shall one more be in my head as it will be in the politics of the country. [Laughter and applause]. Now, my friends, you Indisaved the Democratic people Your vote four years ago. was necessary to the election of Cleveland and Hendricks, and you gave it by a good round majority, and now it is in your power once more to save the Democratic party by voting for Cleveland again. [Applausel. I am quite sure that there is not a Democrat within sound of my voice who regrets that he voted for Grover Cleveland in 1884. I

I think you can count them on the fingers of one hand, and there are, for such, ten to one who have come to us from the Republican party. [Applause]. I can bardly think how a man who voted for Grover Cleveland in 1884 can have the face to look into a fellow-Democrat's face and say, 'I wont vote for him "I do say that there is much that ought to be reformed in our laws and our system, but it is not the fault of Grover Cleveland that the reforms have not been made. He has urged them; he has pleaded with Congress; he has said to the people again and again that such and such things ought not to be, and that others ought not to be, and that he has said again and again, and no sensible man can say that his recommendations have not been made by wisdom, and knowledge, and patriotism; and now that man, with whom I am acquainted well, I say to you my young triends, and all my friends, young and old, is one of the most sensible, levelheaded, honest men, I ever knew. |Applause. He is now before you, a candidate, and I firmly believe that he will be elected. [Applause.] firmly believe that the American people have too much sense, too much appreciation of the honor, bravery and courage in that President to lay him aside after the honor, and courage, and bravery and intelligence that he has exhibited in the presidential chair. Now, my friends, I wish I could speak to you longer, but this rascally protective tooth of mine is beginning to be rebellious, and I think I will have to stop; therefore, I must say to you that you must wait until I come to your State, and, God willing, I will be there [applause], and then I will talk to you about the tariff and the fisheries, or anything else that you want me to talk about [applause], and I went be mealy-mouthed about it. You won't find me avoiding any question what-ever that is fairly proposed. [Applause.] God knows that I would rather be at home with my dear old wife than in any office in the world, but I have been chosen by the Democratic party to help fight this campaign, and I mean to do it to the best of my ability, and I hope to do it

At the conclusion of the speech-making, Judge Thurman took a position in front of the platform and was personally presented to each of the visitors. The balance of the day was spen in looking about the city, and at 11 o'clock tonight the delegation left on their return trip.

Pitiable Condition of Robert Garrett. NEW YORK, Sept. 2 .- The Teibune this morning prints the following as the statement of a person who knows Robert Garrett's condition: "Mr. Garrett is a very sick man, and I don't think he will ever recover. His mind is entirely gone. His speech is failing him, and when he becomes violent he cannot say a word, but makes a peculiar noise with his throat. He is frequently crying and yelling, and when night comes his noise and yells are something frightful. He will stare around him, and with his eyes bulging out and cronching with terror, he will call to his assistan', to come and take the men away that are trying to kill him. The windows have been guarded with heavy iron gratings to prevent him from jumping out. He is constantly watched by three men in the day time and three at night. He does not eat at the same table with his wife and father-in-law, who are here with him. He is fed on milk aimost entirely. His meals are served to him in his room. When he has a quiet spell his attendants take him for a short walk in the grounds."

New York's Cherished Chimpanzes. NEW YORK, Sept. 1.-Crowley, the Central ark chimpanzee, was thoroughly dissected today at the Museum of Natural History. Dr. William Gotthiel, of this city, was the operating surgeon, and Dr. Spitzka, an insanity specialist, made an autopsy of the brain. The immediate cause of death was found to be conjestion of the right lung. The ravages of consumption had entirely destroyed the usefulness of the right lung. It was coated with pleuric matter, which fastened on the chest walls and closed the lung cavity. The liver was degenerated and the heart unsound. Peritonitis had diseased the kidneys and covered them with tubereles. Tubercles were found on all the organs, and the walls of the chest and abdomen. The intestines were in a fairly healthy condition, and these were about the only undiseased inner parts. The climate and the diet to which the monkey was subjected were undoubtedly the causes of his complete decay.

Unfounded Rumor About Powderly. PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 1 .- A rumor has gained currency here to-day, and is well authenticated in labor circles, apparently, that General Master Workman Powderly has withdrawn from the order of the Knights of Labor, his resignation to take immediate effect. When a reporter visited the Knights of Labor headquarters to inquire into the truth of the rumor, he was informed by Secretary Hayes that there was absolutely nothing in the story.

A Huge Garden Party. SARATOGA, N. Y., Sept. 1 .- The Grand Union Hotel garden party which took place this afternoon and to-night was attended by from six to eight thousand ladies and gentlemen in full-dress. The display of magnificent costumes and diamonds excelled anything ever seen here. Among those present were representatives from every section of the United States Canada Tho four acres of the hotel grounds were gorgeously decorated with flags, banners, coats of srms, and draperies. Electric lights and gas jets made the scene a most brilliant one. Are lights, flashing through colored glass upon the fountains, added to the general picturesqueness of the early autumnal scene. The pavilion was canopied by streamers of various hues. The garden party was the grandest affair of the kind ever given in Sara-COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 1 .- A delegation of

THE FEVER AT JACKSONVILLE.

Urging Women and Children to Leave the City-A Day Prolific in New Victims. New ORLEANS, Sept L-The Times-Democrat's special from Jacksonville. Fla., says: "Eleven new cases of yellow fever up to 1 o'clock, and one death, is what Dr. Neal Mitchell reports by telephone. This is a high figure for so early in the day. The greater portion of new cases are reported from 5 to 6 o'clock P. M. There will be so few people left here in a few days from now that hardly any one can hope to escape the disease. To-morrow an excursion train will leave here for South Carolina, in accordance with Surgeon-general Hamilton's suggestion and permission, and it will be well filled, too. It is especially urged now that the women and children get out of the city, and great efforts are being made to send them off. The rush to camp Perry continues, and those who intend to stay will be rather lonesome by next week. Mir. Enter, fireman of the Pine-street station, received a letter yesterday from his sister in Charleston, stating that she was suffering from a severe attack of yellow fever, and that there were several other cases in that city. It is not known whether this is true or not, as it cannot be corroborated now. Owing to the sickness in the city, the log trains' over the Blorida Central & Peninsula railroad have been, for the present, abandoned. The railroad authorities say they do not desire to jeopardize the health of the engineers and other employes in running past St. Luke's Hospital, as they must do to reach the depot. However, several of the mills have a sufficient supply of logs on hand to last them for some time. and are constantly receiving more from different points up the river." JACKSONVILLE, Sept. I. - The 1st of September was another prolific day in fever victims. For the third day in succession the new cases reported to the board of health have numbered twenty-three. Quite a large proportion are colored people in Oakland, though the cases are well scattered through the city. Only two deaths occurred to-day, both employes of the postoffice. At a citizens' meeting to day much petter feeling prevailed. Assurance of opening a route to places offering refuge to our people who can leave has caused hundreds of faces to brighten, and given hope of very considerable reduction of the population in the near future. Hundreds of comfortable rough houses will be erected at once for cities of refuge for the a few miles from the city, and several thousand people, principally colored, will soon be re-Two camps are now inhabited, and one will be established six miles north, near the creek. The total number of cases reported to date is 234; deaths, 32; now under treatment.

The names of the new cases are Mary Brunster, Mary Roberts, Myrtle Hopkins, P. A. Lorrimer, Pope Holland, Lizzie Rancey (colored), Turner (colored), F. L. Conjeff Mamie Hennar, John Conieff, Conieff, Mrs. C. Hines, Louise Hoyt (colored), Prince Strobert (colored), a child of L. D. Vandermack, J. E. Smith, Miss O'Rourke, Francis Robinson (colored), M. A Case at Philadelphia

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 .- Surgeon-general Hamilton has just received a dispatch from Philadelphia informing him that a case of yellow fever has been discovered in the person of a Florida refugee who passed the inspection at Waveross, Ga. The patient was sent to the Municipal Hospital. It was learned that this refugee had been taken to the United States marine ward of the German Hospital, in charge of Drs. Balhachs and Styer. Dr. Styer, it is reported, found the case a doubtful one, with some indications in favor of the theory of yellow fever, and made a report to the health authorities at once. Upon this report the patient was ordered at once to be sent to the Municipal Hospital.

Two Men Burned to Death.

FOSTORIA, O., Sept. 1.-A sad accident ocfrom this city, to-day. One of the buge tanks of the Buckeye Pipe-line Company burst from its weight, scattering 35,000 barrels of oil along the ground. Two men were caught in the flow and thrown to the ground. The oil rushed on to a forge near by, where a blacksmith had a fire. The oil caught fire, and in a second the whole field was a vast sheet of flame. The two men who were thrown down by the force of the oil were caught and were burned to a crisp. Only a few charred bones can be found of the unfortunate men. One proved to be a young man about twenty-two years of age, named Werrick, while the other has not been identified. He was probably a looker-on. The loss on the tank of 35,000 barrels is complete. The Depositors Found $1.16. CHICAGO, Sept. 1.—The little town of Rose-land, a suburb of Chicago, whose population is chiefly composed of Hollanders, is in a state of excitement over the disappearance of the officers of the savings bank of the village. The press dept of the bank, William Swart, its teller, La H. Johnston, and the business solicitor, Elijak Beckler, have left town, taking with them the entire assets of the bank, amounting to between $25,000 and $30,000. The vault, when opened this afternoon, was found to contain only $1.16, The depositors are mostly small tradesmen and

Association of B. of L. F. ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 1 .- Grand Master Sargent, of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, telegraphed Mayor Cooper, to-day, asking if, in view of yellow fever in the South, it would be prudent to hold the convention of the Brotherhood here. Mayor Cooper answered: There is absolutely no danger from fever. This city never was in a more healthy condition, and your convention can be held without fear. This is an honest and unbiased opinion, and can be relied upon." The convention

Smith, master mechanic who was the chief cause of the recent strike on the Peoria, Decatur & Evansville railroad, is relieved from further duty at the shops in this city, and C. C. Robinson is now in charge as general foreman of the shops and motive power at Mattoon. It seems that the officials made good their promise to investigate and remedy the cause of the strike. Smooth sailing is promised on this line in the future. By Morphine and the Revolver. MIDDLETOWN, N. Y. Sept. 1 .- Wm. J. McCop registered at the Madison House, in this city, last night, from San Francisco. He took laudanum with suicidal intent, but took too much. This morning he shot himself with a Colt's revolver. The ball entered his left breast, and, the surgeons think, must have missed the heart. Letters found in his room show the act to have been premeditated. He will probably die. Killed at a Crossing.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. DELPHI, Ind., Sept. 1 .- A distressing accident occurred at Patton Station, in this county, this morning. Mr. and Mrs. Robert McClintock attempted to cross the Monon railroad in front of a passenger train, and the horse stopped on the track. Mrs. McClintock was killed and her husband terribly injured. Mr. McClintock is one of the most prominent farmers in the county.

Brought Home for Trial.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal-Kokomo, Sept. 1 .- Sheriff Wright returned from Fargo, D. T., to day with Thomas Ruse, who is wanted for the killing of Charles Marks, in this city, on April 25 last, and a deadly assault on his (Ruse's) wife. He will be tried for murder in the first degree at the coming term of court.

Obituary. Special to the Indianapolis Journal CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Sept. 1 .- Wiley Buckles, known widely over the northwest as a grower of fine stock, and for many years the owner of some famous trotting and running horses, died here to-day suddenly. Agent Rice's Shortage, LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept L - An examination of the books of A. E. Rice, the missing ticket agent of the Jeffersonville, Madison & Indianapolie railroad, at New Albany, Ind., shows that he is short over $500. Charged with Murder, CARMI, Ill., Sept. 1.- Charles Dowen, of this place, was arrested yesterday, charged with the murder of an unknown man, near McLeansboro. Ill., six years ago.
